TUESDAY AFTERNOON CLUB.

The Tuesday Afternoon Club met Tuesday, November 26th, in the Masonic Hall for a regular meeting. The afternoon session was devoted to the reading of Mrs. Daniel Campbell, who was thoroughly enjoyed by the many guests of the members who were present.

Honorable Robert Watchorn, former commissioner of immigration of the port of New York, and present chairman of the California state commission on immigration, was speaker of the day.

His description of the care taken of the foreigners arriving at Ellis Island received earnest attention and his suggestions as to what women may do to adopt these conditions for the Los Angeles harbor and port of entry were particularly interesting. With his intimate knowledge of immigration problems, Mr. Watchorn was eminently prepared to answer any questions from all points of view.

Among the representatives of the different nations in costumes on the stage were the following: Italy, Mrs. F. L. Church; Japan, Mrs. J. G. Hunchberger; Russia, Dr. Jessie A. Russell; Spain, Miss Viola Yorba; Indian girl, Barbara Mitchell; Germany, C. E. Hutchinson; Ireland, Mrs. Daniel Campbell; Uncle Sam, Mr. Arthur Matthews.

Two charming vocal solos were rendered by Miss Viola Yorba, accompanied by Mrs. Harry Petersen, pianist. The talented young violinist, Miss Martha Porter, delighted her audience with several violin selections, accompanied on the piano by her sister, Miss Elizabeth Porter.

Large quantities of American plays were artistically used in decoration throughout the hall.

The president, Mrs. R. E. Chase, presided over a brief business session during which many applications for membership to the club were received.

THE NEWS WINS

Court Rules that Law Means What It Says

The Jewel City Press of Glendale, about a month ago, when the city advertised for a year's contract on municipal printing, put in a bid for the work at 18 cents an inch. The GLENDALE NEWS bid 30 cents for the first and 25 cents for subsequent insertions. Other things being equal the Press was entitled to the contract. The NEWS however disputed the claims of its contemporary to be recognized as a legal publication, on the ground that it had not been "printed" in Glendale for one year as required by the statute, all the mechanical work on the paper having been done in Los Angeles until about July first of this year, which fact was admitted by the Press. On the advice of the city attorney, the Press appealed to the court to declare it a legal newspaper, Attorney Baker claiming that the word "printed" was not to be literally construed, the essential fact being publication for one year. The NEWS, represented by Attorneys F. L. Muhleman and Hartley Shaw, disputed this construction, claiming that the statute should be interpreted literally, the word "printed" being inserted for the express purpose of supporting the well-established paper, as against a sometimes ephemeral publication. The suit as between the Press and the NEWS was an entirely friendly one, each being desirous of having the statute legally passed upon. The State Press Association, Mr. Friend W. Richardson, president, was instrumental in the framing of the law in the first place and was very much interested in the case. The decision is given below.

The opinion of our esteemed contemporary, Judge Burch of the Tropico Sentinel, as expressed in that paper a fortnight ago, seems to have been overlooked and overruled by the court. We quote it below in order to keep the record straight:

"It is not the place of its printing but the place of its publication and circulation that fixes the status as a paper in which official advertising of the city may be made."

"Another side of the question in controversy is, if the printing of a part of the paper in Glendale will suffice, and, if so, what part? Will it answer the requirements of the law to have three pages of the paper gotten out in Los Angeles and the remaining or fourth page gotten out in Glendale? Very plainly the publication and circulation of a newspaper regardless of the locality in which the mechanical part of the work of getting it out must determine the question of its status as a medium of official advertising."—Tropico Sentinel.

IN THE SUPERIOR COURT OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA, IN AND FOR THE COUNTY OF LOS ANGELES.

No. 95,603.
IN THE MATTER OF THE APPLICATION TO HAVE THE STANDING OF THE JEWEL CITY PRESS AS A NEWSPAPER OF GENERAL CIRCULATION ASCERTAINED AND ESTABLISHED.

OPINION.
By Section 4460 of the Political Code it is provided that "a newspaper of general circulation is a newspaper which shall have been established, printed and published in the city or town, where such official advertising is given or made, for at least one year preceding the date of such advertisement."

It will thus be seen that the legislature has expressly provided that a paper shall be "printed and published" in the city or town for at least one year. It is true that the words "print" and "publish" are often used synonymously and interchangeably, — the word "print" being used synonymously with the word "publish," and meaning that a newspaper is printed at a certain place when it is sent out, issued or sold, from that place. This is a secondary and not the primary meaning to the word "print." In its primary meaning the word "print" implies the act of impressing characters on paper or other material.

It is a cardinal rule of statutory construction that, if possible, some effect is to be given to every word in the statute, without rejecting it as merely synonymous with some other word or words. The legislature is not to be presumed to have used any word for no purpose. The admitted rules of statutory construction declare that the legislature is presumed to use no superfluous words. (Platt v. Union Pac. R.R. Co., 99 U. S. 48; Langenour v. French, 34 Cal. 92; Gates v. Salmon, 35 Cal. 576; Appeal of Houghton, 42 Cal. 43.)

Nor can the disjunctive "or" be substituted for the copulative "and." In the phrase "printed and published," without violating the rule inhibiting judicial legislation. Such substitution is only permissible when the courts can plainly see that the legislature intended to use the disjunctive instead of the copulative. Ordinarily these words are in no sense interchangeable terms, but, upon the contrary, are used in the structure of language for purposes entirely variant, and the courts cannot substitute one for the other unless it is plainly manifest that the legislature so intended. (Robinson v. Southern Pac. Co., 105 Cal. 543.) Here it is not at all manifest that the legislature intended to use the disjunctive "or." The argument for such a Evangelist Frank M. Dowling will preach next Sunday morning and evening at the regular time on two important subjects. Do not fail to hear him.

The C. W. B. M. sermon preached by Bro. Dowling last Sunday was the one of greatest sermons ever delivered to the ladies of this auxiliary. The epidemic of gripe that is going through this beautiful town of ours like a scourge was the cause of our Sunday school falling below the average last Sunday, but by next Sunday we ought to break the record again. Bro. Dowling gave an inspiring lecture to the young ladies of the school and will next Sunday speak to the young men during the Sunday school hour.

Monday evening, Dec. 9, Bro. Dowling will devote the entire evening to a lecture, illustrated by stereoscopic views on the Holy Land. These pictures are of the very finest and explained by one who has been through the Holy Land. They have great power for good. A silver offering will be taken at this lecture.

On Sunday morning, Dec. 8th, Rev. Walton, pastor of the West Glendale M. E. church, will take for his morning subject "What is the Matter With Mankind" and the evening topic will be "Lepers I Have Seen," the latter subject being Rev. Walton's experience among lepers in Honolulu. Every one is cordially invited to attend these services.

CITY TRUSTEES

Railroad Question Holds the Boards.

A Rather Interesting Session

All members present, with interested citizens principally property owners on Brand boulevard. Reports for November were received from the street superintendent, health officer, city recorder, building inspector, city clerk and assistant marshal.

A communication was read from citizens calling attention to a portion of Fifth street between Jackson and Kenwood, complaining its being cut up by heavy teams. Referred to street superintendent.

A proposal was received from J. B. Robinson of Pasadena offering the city lot 5, block 23, for the sum of $4500 for purposes of erecting fire engine house. Filed. Application was received for permission to erect a tent for the purpose of giving an exhibition, said to be "highly moral," referred.

A communication was received from Contractor McCombs asking to be relieved from contract for improvement of Campbell and Dryden street. Referred to street superintendent and city attorney. At 8 o'clock Chairman Watson stated that at this time the matter of lowering of tracks on Brand boulevard would be taken up as announced last week. The representatives of the railroad company not having arrived, Mr. Watson spoke on the subject, relating all that had been done in the matter. The grade had been practically agreed upon between the engineer of the city and the railroad company. The matter of crossings also agreed to, but the railroad people will not give up their private right-of-way and only propose to pay one-half of the cost of improvement of their right-of-way in the event the streets are improved. For a length of two blocks however the company would lower tracks to grade if the property owners paid for the improvement of the street on both sides. A few minutes later Mr. McMillen of the Pacific Electric entered. He presented a memorandum covering the case from the railroad point of view, being in terms as previously stated by Mr. Watson. He then spoke as to right-of-way. In answer to an inquiry by Mr. Watson, Mr. McMillan stated that if Lomita avenue grade was lowered there would have to be a gradual lowering of track for a block or two back. It developed that in regard to this street the railroad contend that this was originally "only a private right-of-way for the Goodell ranch" and not a traveled road before the railroad came. Allusion was made to the railroad at San Fernando where the conditions are similar to those in Glendale and where a satisfactory grade has been established, the crown of which is seven inches above the curb.

Mr. McMillan read the opinion of the railroad attorneys to the effect that the change of grade on street crossings must be referred to the railroad commission of the state.

Mr. Mattison B. Jones asked Mr. McMillan what the railroad company would do with their right-of-way between crossings. Mr. McMillan declared that whatever improvement was made along the right-of-way, the railroad company would do its share and keep its property in condition that would harmonize with said improvements.

Mr. Jones presented the case of the petitioners who signed the petition to the trustees, stating their desire to have Brand boulevard made attractive throughout, and improvements should be made in a manner looking toward the ultimate condemnation of the right-of-way.

Mr. McMillan replied to the effect that probably the railroad company would be willing to have its property condemned if paid for it, and if the people desired such car service as would result. As to putting all of the track down to the same grade as the crossings, the railroad company would certainly object. He said that the company would be willing to meet the city half-way in anything in the way of improvement of the street.

Replying to a question by Mr. Lane as to whether the congestion of traffic during the morning and evening hours, could not be remedied, Mr. McMillan gave some interesting facts showing the difficulty of giving better service under existing conditions, the Glendale traffic increasing more rapidly than that of any other suburban community. At 9:30 Mr. McMillan withdrew. Chairman Watson stated that it was desirable that citizens get together and make a definite plan as to what is wanted under the circumstances. Dr. Rudy suggested that as the people are not engineers they could therefore afford to accept what their competent city engineer recommended as a "reasonable grade." He wanted to know also whether the people were going to be satisfied with Edendale car service. Mr. Jones favored having the track so that traffic can cross at any point; he did not believe the service would be so very slow. Discussion ensued over the proposition of the chairman that the property owners get together and decide what grade they want. Some of those present wanted the matter settled at once.

Mr. Jones moved that Brand boulevard have a grade with a crown 7 inches above the curb for its whole length through the city limits. The motion was seconded and after a half hour's discussion a vote was taken and the motion unanimously adopted.

Mr. Jones then offered the following resolution:

"That it is the sense of this meeting that the Brand boulevard tracks be put down to the 7-inch grade above curb." Speaking to this question Dr. Rudy again asked if the people of Glendale really want the slow service which the lowering of the tracks will bring about. The motion was unanimously adopted by a rapidly dissolving audience. The chairman appointed a committee consisting of Messrs. Jones, Ezra F. Parker, Dr. Rudy and J. H. Foley to act with two trustees to take the matter up with the railroad people.

At this point the audience faded away, it being 11 o'clock, and the board took up routine work. This was practically all that was done during the evening, and after granting the city engineer a ten days' leave of absence, the board adjourned.

ENTERTAIN THE OLDER FOLKS.

Wednesday evening of last week the boys of the intermediate school on Third street entertained their parents at an evening luncheon served in the Domestic Science Department. Among other features of the program was an address by Judge Curtis D. Wilbur, the well known jurist who presides over the juvenile department of the Superior Court in Los Angeles.

Judge Wilbur had been a student come years ago at the Annapolis Academy and gave the audience some extracts from his experience and at the conclusion presented the boys with a picture of "Old Ironsides" made for him as a reminder of his apprenticeship on the historic vessel. The speech was an appeal to civic honesty and loyalty which was an inspiration to the young citizens present.

What does the county of Los Angeles year?

Triumphant democracy in Washington after March 4th next will be a dent Taft in placing $50,000 appointments in the postoffice service under civil service control.

Every city has its own problem to meet and work out. Glendale since its incorporation has had a competent, honest and progressive administration.
Large cities like Des Moines and Kansas City were graft-ridden and corruptly governed, with them any radical change in methods of government could scarcely fail to improve conditions. It does not follow that the same methods of government in those places may be profitably adopted elsewhere.

The ruling of Judge Finlayson of the Superior Court in Los Angeles in regard to the legal status of the Jewel City Press, is an instance that is encouraging to the plain and common sense interpretation of the law which is the basis of equity. The case was one in which the statute was framed in such plain language that there never should have been a doubt as to its interpretation. A decision of this nature goes far to increase the confidence of the people in our courts and to discourage juggling with plain English.

In his talk at the trustees' meeting in Glendale, Monday night, General Manager McMillen gave out a few interesting details tending to show the difficulties that the railroad people have to contend with in solving the transportation problem. Among other things he stated that the Pacific Electric company has been unable to secure any of an order for forty interurban cars which were to have been delivered in July. Threats of a cancellation of the order are of no avail as the manufacturing company would only be too well pleased by such action as it would help them out in supplying other customers.

OWENS RIVER WATER PLANS.

The sum of $8,400,000 will be required to finance the Graham scheme of Owens Valley water distribution as approved by the voters of Los Angeles at the recent election. At least, that is the estimated amount, with a probability of its being exceeded. This expenditure will be devoted to the construction of a high level conduit through Crescenta, Canyada, Altadena and the foothill region to the eastern extremity of the county, the object being to furnish water to the citrus orchards of the San Gabriel Valley.
The opponents of this plan of distribution claim that it is contrary to the original plan and at variance with the pledges given the federal government that the water would only be used as public necessity required.
Legal complications are likely to arise in the future not only as to the right to take the water from the valley to which it naturally belongs, but as to whether when the city actually needs the water, it can be withdrawn from the orchardists. Meanwhile the principal demand for the water in the San

OLD AND NEW POLITICAL PARTIES.

A popular weekly publication that possibly has the big circulation it claims, tells an interested world that the Republican party is dead, and as evidence points to the fact that it has almost no votes in the electoral college. Then in the next paragraph the writer expresses the belief that the Democratic party has only a few years of existence ahead of it. The article shows the ease with which an argument can be made to work either way.
In the first place the Republican party is dead, because it is represented in the electoral college by a handful of votes; in the second place the Democratic party having more votes in the electoral college than it knows what to do with, is also traveling rapidly toward the cemetery! If both of the old parties pass away in the near future, as parties always have passed, it will not be the result of the recent election that will have been the cause, but of other influences more remote.
There is an undoubted trend toward Socialism in the United States, not because that propaganda has very much to offer besides some fine large generalities, but because there is a tendency resulting as much from an epidemic of superficial learning as anything else, toward the things that are purely experimental. This is based upon an iconoclastic spirit, a contempt for the things that are old and tried and a passion for the things which appear to be new. But this leaning toward Socialism does not mean that Socialism will result. It is far more likely to mean a compromise and the building up of a party with Socialistic tendencies only and Socialistic theories applied to a few things, such as government ownership for instance. Such a party will draw from all of the old parties and the residue of those parties will combine possibly under a new name into an opposition or conservative party, therefore two great parties will result, the radical and the conservative. The former will want to tear down the things that have hitherto been considered as the foundations of the government, beginning with the constitution, and the latter will stand for the old order modified by degrees as the occasion arises. The result of the contest between these opposing political forces will again be a compromise, a middle course dictated by common sense which does not at any time overlook the fact that the characteristics of human nature do not change from one generation to another.

MINSTREL SHOW PLEASSED.

The Busby's World's Greatest Minstrel Show Wednesday evening has shown the distinction of being the only one to exhibit here for some time without a lot of fault finding critics picking its attractions to pieces afterwards.
A negro minstrel show is in a class by itself, and a good one never fails to please an audience where laughter and amusement are sought.
The negro has an ear for music; it is natural with him; and he has his way of rendering it. It is not classical but it is better—more pleasing.
The minstrels gave a good entertainment—one well worth the price, and the audience got its satisfaction of negro melody and laughter.—Hazelton Herald.

NOTICE.

Glendale, Cal., Dec. 4, 1912.
For the information of my many and esteemed customers in Glendale and Tropico, I take this means of setting them aright in regard to a report that has been circulated to the effect that I had sold out my livery business, corner Broadway and Maryland avenue, known as Central Stables. True, a party did make me an offer which was only a verbal affair and was never backed up by the one thing essential in all good business transactions, "cash." Consequently there was no sale made, notwithstanding the many reports to the contrary. My business has never been better than at the present time. I have more and better turnouts than ever before. In thanking the public for the liberal patronage received in the past and assuring you of continued efficient service which is our business getter, as we never seek new customers through a system of price juggling, I wish to say that our slogan that you have read on all of our advertising matter for over three years still holds good. Remember, Frank Showalter keeps this stable and this stable keeps Frank Showalter!
If you want anything from a wheel-barrow to a tally-ho call 314 or 312.
If you want a saddle horse or half dozen of them, we are at your service, with no intention of either selling out or running away.

DISTRICT MEETING OF I. O. O. F. AT HOLLYWOOD SATURDAY EVENING.

On Saturday evening there will be a district meeting of Odd Fellows at Hollywood. The members of Glendale Lodge will make the trip by auto stage, and a most enjoyable evening is anticipated. Supper will be served.
Plenty of room for all Odd Fellows and if you don't get the first stage, there will be another one close behind.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Pert were the guests of their friends, Mr. and Mrs.
Aldrich, on an automobile ride to Pomona on Sunday last. Mr. Aldrich and wife visited relatives in Ontario also, returning in less than two hours.
Mrs. Shafer and Mrs. Rothrock, who arrived from Illinois last week have rented the cottage at 1504 Ivy street.
They are like all easterners—perfectly delighted with Glendale.

W. C. T. U. NOTES.

Our parlor evangelistic and social meeting last Friday was a great success in every way. Mrs. Alice Ayers, superintendent of evangelistic department held the interest of all present while she talked to us from the scriptures on Thanksgiving, each one taking part in telling of many blessings in the year past, made a blessed time. Then our hostess who is a newcomer and brought the eastern hospitality, served bountiful refreshments.
Our next regular meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. D. A. Fitch, 201 Isabelle street, Friday, December 6, at 2:30 p. m. Subject, Literature, with Reminiscences of Madam Wilson. We hope to see all present who are not detained by sickness, and bring some one who is not a member.
We are still reaching out for that enlarged membership which we have always wished for. Won't you do your part?
Mrs. Hattie E. Gaylord, President.

SMALL FIRE WHICH MIGHT HAVE BEEN WORSE.

Fire Department Slow.
Wednesday evening of last week a shed on the rear of the lot and residence of J. M. Sprinkle, 319 East Fifth street, caught fire from some unknown cause and was destroyed with contents. The loss was about $75 to Mr.
Sprinkle and about $100 of meters belonging to the water company stored therein were destroyed. The shed made a big blaze and it is only due to the fact that the night was very calm that the two nearby houses were not burned. A telephone call was sent into the telephone office and the operator reports having tried for half an hour to get some one to give the alarm, trying first at the livery stable and then elsewhere, but the department did not get out for half an hour when the fire was about burned out and kept under control by the efforts of neighbors.

A CONFEDERATE'S FUNERAL.

Mr. C. C. Marsh, an ex-Confederate soldier, who died last Tuesday at the home of his sister, Mrs. Anna H.
Thompson of Fairview avenue, was buried last Friday in Forest Lawn cemetery. The services at the house and at the grave were conducted by Rev. G. R. Messias, late of St. Mark's Episcopal church, assisted by Rev. C.
R. Norton of Casa Verdugo M. E. church. A Confederate "Guard of Honor" escorted the corpse to the grave and assisted in the burial with a simple ceremony. Capt. J. D. Shaw, residing at Ninth and A streets, member of the L. A. Camp of Confederate Veterans, read the memorial inscription on the chapel laid on the bier by the guard of honor, as the bier was lowered into the grave. The inscription was unique and is as follows:

formerly occupied the cottage of Mr.

In the big windstorm last week the front windows at Mrs. Wood's home, 1520 West Fifth street, were blown in and furniture and pictures badly wrecked, entailing a damage of fully fifty dollars.

Mr. and Mrs. Sapds together with their son are occupying the Penna here some two weeks ago from Pitts-

We are proud of the young composer of the new song, "My Paradise," Cecil Crandle, of Salem street. Cecil was formerly a pupil of the West Glendale years of age, he is now in the second year of high school, and a very bright student.

Mrs. L. H. Webb, who formerly lived at Sixth and Central avenue, died at her home in Venice, last Fri-

PIANO RECITAL.

A large number of friends of the piano pupils of Miss Octavia Hudson's graded school of music, have received invitations to a recital to be given Saturday, Dec. 7, from 2:00 to 3:00 o'clock, at Symphony hall, 232 S. Hill street, Los Angeles. The program will be given by the preparatory, prim-

ANOTHER CITY OFFICE THAT PAYS.

The NEWS last week called attention to the satisfactory financial condition in the city recorder's office.
There is another city office that is likewise a money-maker and that is that of building inspector. Mr. J. M.
Banker, who fills the position of inspector gives us the following figures of receipts of the office for the past four months for fees: August, $308; September, $211; October, $223.75; November, $248.25.
Deducting the $100 a month salary paid the inspector the remainder shows the profits to the city, amounting to $491 paid into the city treasury. It may be remarked in passing that the department is being conducted so economically that the city has not even provided it with furniture.

SIXTH STREET PARENT TEACHER ASSOCIATION

On Friday afternoon, December 13, at 3:15 the regular meeting of the ing his services.

A cordial invitation is extended by the members of the Sixth Street Parent-Teacher Association to all who would enjoy taking advantage of this opportunity.

Mr. and Mrs. Mattison B. Jones of Orange street, presided at an elaborate dinner party on Thanksgiving Day in honor of Mrs. Robert Jackson of Kentucky. Polonaises made a beautiful decoration, hand-painted place cards of poinsettias marked the covers, and the various courses of the dinner humorized with the color scheme of crimson and green.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Lucius Phillips, Miss Anna Ewell Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Evans, Mr. and Mrs.
F. W. Pigg, Miss Maybeth Pigg, Mas-

The Child in the Midst. Matt. xviii: 1-14.

Golden Text—In heaven their angels do always behold the face of my Father which is in heaven. Matt. xviii:10.

(1.) Verse 1—What and where is the kingdom of heaven as Jesus taught?

(2.) What idea did the disciples have about the kingdom of heaven and its chief men?

(3.) Verses 2-3—In what respects did the disciples need to be converted?

(4.) From Jesus' estimate of a child, would you say that all children are members of the kingdom of heaven?
Why?

(5.) In what respects are we to become like children in order to be saved?

(6.) Verses 4—Why does Jesus make humility the standard of greatness in his kingdom?

(7.) Verse 5—Why should Christ take a kindness done to a little child the same as if done to himself?

(8.) If one loves and tenderly cares for children why would that not constitute him a Christian?

(9.) Verse 6—What is the difference in the culpability of one who offends a child or an obscure person who believes in Jesus and one who does the same thing to a person who does not believe in Jesus?

(10.) Why is a sin against a child or any weak person deserving of such great punishment as Christ here intimates?

(11.) Verse 7—What are the most serious of the ways in which people "offend" other people?

(12.) Jesus states "It must needs be that offences come." But why is this so?

(13.) What is the "woe" to those who offend or hurt their fellow men?

(14.) Verses 8-9—What are some of the things which the average man desires most?

(15.) What is the most important thing in life?

(16.) What are life's chief temptations?

(17.) Verse 10—How are we liable to offend one of Christ's little ones?

(18.) What is the significance of the fact that the guardian angels of Christ's little ones are always looking into the face of God?

(19.) Verse 11—Who are the lost?

(20.) How does Jesus save those that are lost? (This is one of the questions that may be answered in writing by members of the club.)

(21.) Verses 12-13—Why does a man rejoice more over finding one treasure that he had lost than over ninety and nine similar treasures he had kept safely?

(22.) Verse 14—It is God's wish that all shall be saved. Why, then, will all not be saved?

Forgiveness. Matt. xviii:15-35.

Marrying Her Debts.

It sounds strange to talk of marrying the wife's debts, but that was a common practice in England years ago. It was before the married woman's property act of 1882. In contemplation of law the husband and wife were one, and the husband was that one. Then if the bride owed any debts before marrying they devolved on the newly married husband, and he had to pay the piper. This led to some extraordinary farces being enacted.
Women who were overladen with debts actually got rid of them by marrying some poor bankrupt, imprisoned for debt. These men did not mind whether they were liable for hundreds or thousands, and the "wife" usually paid the "husband" a few pounds for the protection of his name, and then she would snap her fingers at her baffled creditors and gayly set about incurring fresh debts. The law which settled and removed this sort of thing deserves a better title than the colloquial one of "a hass."—London An-

Steel Globes in Space.

If two solid balls of tempered steel, each the size of the earth and hard as the harveized face of armor plate, were taken in two Jovian hands, plac-

Broke the Spell.

Judge E. Rockwood Hoar, remarking on President Lincoln's dry humor, said that on one occasion a delegation of negroes had waited on Mr. Lincoln and were evidently at a loss to know just what to say. The president waited awhile and then remarked:
"Well, all who are here seem to be present."
This self evident proposition broke the ice and removed the spell from the African jaw.

RACING AUTO LEAPS OVER RIVAL MACHINE

Drivers Have Close Shaves In Coney Island Accident.

Racing at fifty miles an hour, an automobile broke its axle in one of the saucer trucked motordromes at Coney Island, and as it leaped into the air in a somersault the other car, its racing rival, passed beneath it, says the New York Tribune.

The accident occurred in Curran's autodrome, on Surf avenue, opposite the Culver depot. About 200 persons were watching the last race of the night, and fearless George Cook and "Wild Jack" Randall were driving their cars at their fastest pace.

Cook's machine fell pellmell down to the bottom of the saucer, while the women in the audience screamed and held their hands to their eyes. Strange to say, the car came down on its tires, with Cook still in his seat.

"Dr. H. H. Stern of 50 Macon street, Brooklyn, a spectator, jumped down into the track and found that Cook was unconscious and had a fracture of the left arm and a deep gash in his head. Randall had not escaped unscathed, for in some way his left arm had been badly bruised.

Neither of the men had to be taken to a hospital, and it was said they would soon be racing again.

Tried to Fool the Natives.

James Francis Dwyer, author of "The White Waterfall," tells in the New York Times the following story of an American sleight of hand artist who visited the Fijiis: A planter complained of the laziness of the natives, and the prestidigitator made an experiment. He assembled a dozen of the natives, mumbled some words over a green coconut, sliced the nut and extracted a bright sovereign from the inside. He explained that his mystical chant was necessary to produce the coin, but he was quite willing to say the magical words at 4 o'clock that afternoon over all coconuts that should be brought to the house. The news spread like a prairie fire. Men, women and children were busy climbing after nuts, and when 4 o'clock came there were thousands of coconuts piled up waiting for the blessing that would make their owners rich.

The magician was astounded with the result of his trick. He looked out at the waiting islanders, many of whom were holding their knives in their hands ready to hack for the hidden gold the moment the words were said; then he turned to the planter.

"I—I don't think they're the right kind of people to stand a joke," he stammered. "If you don't mind I'll slip out the back way and get back to the town on foot."

And he went helter skelter, while the waiting brown men called loudly for the magic man to bless their coconuts.

In an Aeroplane Collision.

Two monoplanes, driven by James Stalnauer of Cleveland, O., and William Heina of Pittsburgh, a former automobile racer, were in collision in the air at the Garden City (N. Y.) aviation field recently. The machines were wrecked, but the aviators were not badly hurt.

Heina is a novice at flying, and Stalnauer has not had much experience. They left the ground about the same time, both going in the same direction.
When Heina was about twenty feet from the ground Stalnauer was flying just above him. It appeared to spectators that Stalnauer in some way lost control of his machine. His monoplane dropped suddenly and landed on top of Heina's.

Both machines came to the ground with a crash. Heina's pancaked on the ground, and the other machine, after its left wing had crumpled, fell over-backward. Both propellers were shattered.

The Problem of Country Life

By CHARLES STELZLE

RURAL decay is one of the most staggering problems in American national life. In the matter of population alone it calls for serious attention. The percentage of rural population in the United States has been steadily decreasing as follows: In 1880 there lived in the country 70.5 per cent of the total population; in 1890, 63.9 per cent; in 1900, 59.5 per cent; in 1910, 53.7 per cent.

The loss of rural population is due to economic, social and educational causes. Religion and religious institutions also play an important part in the problem. We hear much these days about the "country life movement." Let it be noted that this is a different proposition from the "back to the land" movement. It may be said broadly that the first was inaugurated for the purpose of benefiting the country, the second for the purpose of benefiting the city. Unquestionably more will come of the former than of the latter, for the movement to improve the conditions of farm life is in harmony with a normal desire, while the effort to transplant the city man to the country is in violation of natural law. Just as the city must work out its own salvation, so the country will be compelled to solve its own problems. It must be quite apparent that good farm land and profitable farming will not settle the most vital questions in the country. Principally, the leaders in this movement tell us, there must be a higher idealism among country people. They must have higher standards of education, of social life, of the moral well being in each community. The country life commission appointed by the president said in its report, "Any consideration of the problem of rural life that leaves out of account the function and the possibilities of the church and of related institutions would be grossly inadequate. . . . because from the purely sociological point of view the church is fundamentally a necessary institution in country life."

The Growth of the City

By CHARLES STELZLE

THE plea that big cities are bad for the people is not a new one. Aristotle limited the ideal city to 10,000 inhabitants. Plutarch and Cicero sought by persuasion to turn back the current of emigration which came from the country. Justinian tried to stop it by legal measures. The Tudors and the Stuarts issued proclamations forbidding the erection of new houses in London, enjoining the country people to return to their homes. But persuasion and legislation were both in vain. The city has developed in spite of the teaching of philosophers and the edicts of rulers' because the growth of populations and their manner of making a living are determined by certain forces over which neither kings nor philosophers have ultimate control.

The census returns just completed give some very interesting figures with reference to the growth of the city in the United States during the years from 1900 to 1910. The population as a whole increased 21 per cent, but the cities of 25,000 and over increased 53 per cent, whereas the rural population increased only about 11 per cent. Nearly 50 per cent of the entire population lives in cities of 2,500 and over. About one-fifth of the population resides in the cities of New York, Chicago and Philadelphia. Twenty-two per cent lives in cities of 100,000 and over.

Like great whirlpools, these centers are drawing to themselves those elements which constitute the social unrest. In the cities are found practically every great social problem that one finds anywhere else, only much more intensified. Negroes constitute one-fourth or more of the total population in each of twenty-seven principal cities, and in four of them the proportion is more than half. Of foreign born whites in the United States as a whole there are 14.5 per cent. In the cities of 25,000 and over there are 26.2 per cent. In thirteen principal cities more than 40 per cent of the population is foreign born. In each of fifteen cities having 250,000 population or more the percentage of foreign born and the children of foreign born represent more than half the population, and in eleven of them it is more than two-thirds.

FELL ASLEEP ON FIELD OF BATTLE

Union Man Woke to Find Himself Alone Among Enemies.

HE REFUSED TO SURRENDER.

Get Away, Although It Seemed, He Said, as Though a Million Bullets Were Buzzing Around His Ears.
Saved by Old Style of Confederate Weapons.

THE boys in blue in the civil war did not always face the enemy without turning tail, thus illustrating the old saying, "He who fights and runs away will live to fight another day," and one of the local veterans tells a remarkable story of his own experiences in this respect at the battle of Williamsburg on May 5, 1862. He tells how he went to sleep on the field of battle and woke up to find himself within range of the muskets of about twenty Confederates and how he took to his heels and never stopped running until he had come up to a line of Union cavalry which was at the rear of General Hooker's division for the purpose of bringing up stragglers. He says: "The cannonade began and soon the enemy's shells were hurting among the fallen timber and we were ordered to lie down and cover ourselves behind tree trunks as well as we could. It thus happened that only a general line was preserved, although all were ready to fall in at a minute's warning. I selected a particularly large tree trunk for my cover some ten or fifteen yards in advance of the general line, and behind this I lay down, taking off my knapsack and using it for a pillow.

Fell Asleep on the Field.
"I was not fully recovered from my wound of the year before and was exhausted from the twenty-four hours' duty and the long march with the heavy load, and after an hour or two I fell asleep, although the battle was raging.

"I never knew how long I slept, but it must have been an hour or two. I stood up and looked about me. The rain had ceased and a heavy fog mingled with the smoke hung over the field, but curiously it did not quite extend I could see under it. I could see no one of my regiment nor any other.

"COME HERE, YOU YANKEE," THEY CALLED, but out in front about fifty yards off was the battery which we had been supporting. Several guns dismounted, carriages and caissons wrecked and a great number of horses lying dead on the ground. Scattered about among this wreckage were about twenty men with gray overcoats on.

Mistook Foes For Friends.
"Now, my regiment and another regiment in the same brigade were wearing gray overcoats, and it never occurred to me for a moment that the men were not of these two regiments. So I shouted to them, 'Do you belong to the regiment?' and readily to my surprise their muskets went up to their shoulders and they yelled, 'Come in here, you — Yankee.'

"I grabbed my musket and my knapsack and ran for the rear. "I zigzagged about in the timber, jumping over, crawling under or running around fallen logs, so that when they fired at me not a bullet touched me. But I thought I heard a million of them about my ears. I was scared into a panic. I let go my knapsack, but hung to my musket, and with my wet overcoat flapping about my legs continued to run, utterly demoralized and with only one thought—to get away. If the enemy had had breech-loading or magazine rifles they would have fired again instantly and probably would have got me. But as they were armed only with muzzle loaders it took time to load again and this was my salvation."—Springfield Republican.

Beauty of Colonial Gateposts.
Perhaps no other feature adds more to the seclusion and dignity of a house than well designed entrance gateposts. The meeting point of house and grounds always presents a difficult problem, even in the best suburban architecture. Shrubbery often mitigates this unavoidable intersection, but the old fashioned white picket fence, full of interesting detail and backed up by hedges, solved the problem most satisfactorily. Yet this best solution must be used with discretion. On suburban streets broken up into many small lots, there should be an agreement on the part of several neighbors to put up the same sort of fence; otherwise the different heights and shapes of the pickets would be too disturbing to add any beauty to the houses. In other words, a good picket fence demands a certain amount of continuity to do it justice. In the gateposts, however, a great variety could be displayed, and where there is a group of little colonial houses, or even only colonial doorways, the famous old gateposts of Salem offer a wealth of suggestion. Country Life in America.

Under a Fly's Wing.
One of the Nuremberg toy-makers enclosed in a cherry stone which was exhibited at the French Crystal Palace a plan of Sevastopol, a railway station and the "Messiah" of Klopstock. In more remote times an account is given of an ivory chariot, constructed by Mercurius, which was so small that a fly could cover it with his wing; also a ship of the same material which could be hidden under the wing of a bee. Pliny, too, tells us that Homer's "Iliad," with its 15,000 verses, was written in so small a space as to be contained in a nutshell, while Elian mentions an artist who wrote a distich in letters of gold which he enclosed in the rind of a kernel of corn. But the Harleian manuscripts mention a greater curiosity than any of the above, it being nothing more or less than the Bible written by one Peter Bales, a chancery clerk, in so small a book that it could be enclosed in the shell of an English walnut.

A Queen Anne Mince Pie.
Take a large cow's tongue; parboil it; to three pounds of tongue take five pounds of beef suet, cut the tongue in thin slices and shred it, but shred the suet by itself; when they are both pretty fine put in the suet by degrees; keep shredding them both together till they are as fine almost as flour; then put in three pounds of currants, being first clean washed, picked and dried; cloves, mace, nutmeg, cinnamon, beat very fine, all together three-quarters of an ounce; half a pound of white sugar, a pound of dates stoned and shredded, three ounces of green citron, three ounces of candied orange cut into small thin bits, the yellow rind of two raw lemons grated, three spoonfuls of verjuice, a gill of malmsey sack, half a gill of rosewater. These being well mingled, fill your pies; have a care they do not stand too long in the oven to dry after they are just enough.—From a Cookbook of 1705.

Metals.
Mercury, of course, is fluid at all ordinary temperatures. Of the metals which we commonly regard as solid, lead can be made to flow with great ease. If by hydraulic pressure it is forced into a cylinder with a hole in the side of it it will, when the cylinder is full, flow out of the hole in a solid, barlike stream. The harder metals, as gold and silver, obviously undergo slight fusion movements in the process of coining, as iron is not perfectly rigid. In drawing out a bar of it into wire the change of form compels the particles of the metal to slide or shear over each other, just as in the flow of a liquid. So great are the pressures that can be applied by modern mechanical science that even steel can be compelled to change its shape without fracture, and all such changes imply fusion in the metal.

Kept Up the Wailing.
In Abyssinia it was once the habit of complainants to stand before the door of the king's palace, loudly appealing to his majesty for help. "So accustomed is the king," wrote one traveler, "to these querulous tones of sorrow that when the rains prevent such as are really distressed from repairing to the capital a set of vagrants is provided whose object it is to raise the cry of artificial sorrow lest he should feel a lonely quietness."

Wanted to Be in Style.
A customer in a butcher's shop stood gazing at some small alligators in an aquarium. Having turned the matter over in his mind, the customer approached the butcher and exclaimed, "I suppose a body might as well be dead as out of style. Gimme a couple of pounds of alligator."

A Little Misunderstanding.
"Sir, your son's performance on the French horn is execrable. It will drive everybody from my house. You told me he was a teacher."

Reason For Gratitude.
"So you're friendly with Cranker, are you? Why, he tells me that he won't have a thing to do with you."

Subtle Slander.
A local paper giving the details of a wedding says: "Mrs. Mullins, the wife of our enterprising milkman, was becomingly attired in watered silk."

Ralph Waldo Emerson said: "Speak as you think; be what you are; pay your debts of all kinds."

SAVED HIGH IN AIR BY A STEEPLEJACK

Maiden's Daring Almost Ends In a Disaster.

Miss Stella Snowdon, daughter of Thomas W. Snowdon, a real estate operator, and her friend, Miss Mintamore Wilson, both of Philadelphia, had narrow escapes from death recently in an attempt to perform a sensational climbing feat in Milwaukee.

The two girls, neither of whom is twenty years old, were visiting in Milwaukee. All climbing records for women in the city were broken despite the nearly disastrous outcome of their venture.

They climbed to the flagpole in the city hall tower, a distance of 365 feet from the street level, and then were saved from death by a steeplejack.

MISS SNOWDON LOST HER BALANCE.

The girls were with a Milwaukee girl, and as the three were passing the city hall Miss Snowdon saw W. H. Stechem, a steeplejack painter, working on the base of the flagpole.

"Girls, I'll dare you to go up and shake hands with him," exclaimed Miss Snowdon.

The Milwaukee girl was agitated at the idea, but Miss Wilson took up the dare. The three started up the elevator, and Miss Snowdon was not to be dissuaded.

"We'll stop on the balcony," suggested the Milwaukee girl.

"I'll do nothing of the kind," declared Miss Snowdon. "I'm going up to get acquainted with that man."

The Milwaukee girl stopped on the balcony, which runs around the base of a forty foot cupola. It is 325 feet from the street. Miss Snowdon continued on her daring journey, followed by Miss Wilson, upon a scaffold built inside the cupola for the steeplejack. Stechem was quietly at work on the flagpole when the girls appeared, crawling out of a trapdoor.

"Get back out of there!" shouted Stechem.

The sudden order affected the girls, and Miss Snowdon lost her balance. The man reached her in time to grasp her arms, and, using all his strength while he clung to the pole, he kept her from falling. Miss Wilson in the meantime was holding on to the cupola in a panic. After a rest the three slowly moved toward the trapdoor, and the girls reached it in safety.

When they finally reached the street the girls were shaken up with their experience. Later Miss Snowdon laughed.

"That is nothing," she said. "Next time we are going down into the tunnel under the river."

Limb He Grabs Is a Water Snake.
Joe Donahue had a startling experience while he and John Stewart were on a canoe trip up the Shenango river in Pennsylvania. The canoeists came to the rapids, which were much swollen by rains, and in order to make them were compelled to paddle in close to the bank and pull themselves up by taking hold of the bushes along the shore.

They made fairly good progress until Donahue, seeing what he thought a heavy branch projecting over the water, seized it, but quickly drew his hand away when the supposed branch began to wrap itself around his wrist.

The lad yelled with fright when he found that he had taken hold of a large water snake. When he let go of the branches the canoe was turned around by the swift current, and an upset was narrowly averted.

Asleep, Walks From Train.

Past asleep, Paul Inman, twelve years old, of Tty, Ga., walked from a swiftly moving Atlantic Coast Line train. The shock of the fall failed to awaken the lad, and he did not know of the peril he had survived until he was rescued by a party of searchers near Willacoochee, Ga. He bore no bruises.

Baseball Is Business.
Professional baseball is a business and millions of dollars are invested in it by business men. They make fortunes out of it, but they pay their players higher salaries than 999 out of every 1,000 of them could earn at any other line of work during a similar number of months each year. From a baseball player nothing is required but that he be able to play a good game and keep in condition. Many stars in the old days were able to do little more than sign their names and read big print. A better educated class of men are in the game today, but they are getting more money for their services than they could earn if they followed any one of hundreds of different professions. And remember that many of them stepped right out of college into good paying baseball positions. Could they have done as well financially had they entered banks or tried their hands at the law or medicine?—Ed A. Goewey in Leslie's.

Frederick and Joseph II.
During Frederick the Great's visit to Joseph II. of Austria at Neustadt he came into personal touch with some of those Austrian generals to whom he "had only spoken hitherto through the roar of cannon." When London entered to take his place at the table Frederick called out to him: "Come and sit near me, M. London. I much prefer you by my side to facing you." Frederick had several busts of the emperor at Sans Souci, and when he looked at them he would remark, "That is a young man on whom I must keep an eye." The Austrian sovereign was ambitious, and Frederick distrusted him. He put it this way: "The Emperor Joseph has a head. He is capable of much. It is a pity he always takes the second step before he has made the first."—A Mystic on the Prussian Throne.

Spelling Reform Needed.
An old gentleman from the east was visiting his daughter in San Jose, Cal. Of course he pronounced the name according to the spelling until they impressed it upon him that in Spanish J has the sound of H.

By and by he started to see a son in Watsonville. This town is on a branch line a mile or so from the junction at Pajaro, and as the electric cars from Pajaro to Watsonville passed directly by the son's house, the old gentleman's railway ticket was for Pajaro. He looked at it in a puzzled way, then threw it down in great disgust, exclaiming: "Well, sir! They can tell me that 'J-o-s-e' spells 'Hozay,' but they needn't tell me that 'P-a-j-a-r-o' spells Watsonville!"—Exchange.

WITH THE TROPICO TRUSTEES.

The Pacific Light and Power company through its representative, Mr. Burns, appeared before the board and submitted an application for sale by the city of a franchise to lay wire and poles on the streets and alleys and other places in this city for electric lighting and power purposes. This franchise is now being offered for sale.

The trustees have passed a resolution permitting the company to make installations for domestic purposes at once under the supervision of the city building inspector and the electric wiring inspector.

Resolutions approving the map and special specifications for the improvement of Glendale avenue along the frontage of the Tropic public school grounds were submitted by the city engineer and were adopted and the map and specifications filed. Resolution of intention to improve this street at the above named point was adopted.

A number of the residents of Acacia avenue claim that the improvement work done on their street is not good and satisfactory. They met with the board of public works at 2 o'clock last Monday to inspect the work.

CARPENTERING AND BUILDING.

Am prepared to do all kinds of carpenter work, to furnish estimates and contract for buildings of any size and description. Will also oversee work for wages or on percentage.

J. B. SHOOK, 1444 W. Sixth Street, Glendale, Home Phone 2273.

TROPICO'S NEW LIGHTS.

The Tropic residents prefer light rather than darkness, and the long wish of these residents is at last gratified, for, by night, the city is illumined by a modern system of tungsten street lights. Instead of the system being lighted for the first time as scheduled on December 1st, which was Sunday night, the trial lighting occurred on Friday evening of last week. On that day the electricity was turned on at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, this being done to break the news to local residents gently. If the company had waited until total darkness and then had turned on the juice the sudden light might have been so unexpected as to cause a stampede or something else of serious nature.

The system consists of about 100 40-candle power Tungsten lamps, these being scattered as evenly as possible over the different streets of the city. Each of these lights is being furnished by the Pacific Light and Power company, which company is owner of the system, to the city at $1 per month. Additional lamps will be added to the system just as often as the trustees see that they are needed and should be installed.

For a month previous to the lighting of the system the company's men were working on the system, erecting poles, stretching wires, placing lamps, etc., and altogether it may be said that excellent headway was made in installing the system, and the company should be congratulated in being able to turn on the electricity by the first of this month.

It is understood that within a very short time the company will be in position to furnish juice to the residents of this place for domestic purposes at a very reasonable figure. The company claims that it will give the same rates here that are now existing in Glendale, and that it will meet any reductions made by the municipally owned lighting department of that place.

The residents of Tropic are now almost happy. There are a few things that still stand between the present situation and happiness, however, these being, the removal of the cattle fence on Brand boulevard, the opening of Brand boulevard, cheaper rates over the Pacific Electric railway, etc. But these are sure to come some of these days, now that the Tropic Civic association has been organized. This association is tackling these questions just above the knees and these needed improvements will no doubt come soon. And when these improvements have been accomplished do you suppose the local boosters will lean back in their chairs and dream the dream of happiness? Nothing doing, for there are other worlds to conquer such as the municipally owned water system, a direct boulevard to Los Angeles via Edendale, annexation with Glendale, etc. The future is indeed bright, and with these illuminous prospects there are some who advocate annexation to Los Angeles, where we would get the little end—higher taxes and nothing else, except the name of being a part of the Angel City.

A HAPPY THOUGHT FOR CHRISTMAS TIME.

The people of Glendale and vicinity will be glad to learn that they no longer have to go elsewhere to do their Christmas shopping. And here's a suggestion for gifts: Nothing more useful, more appropriate and acceptable, than a fine easy chair such as everybody delights in at resting times, and we have them in great variety. Glendale House Furnishing Co., 417 Brand Boulevard.

Miss Alma Turner and Presley Moore will go to Santa Ana to uphold our negative view against Bertrand West and Ruth Inwood of Santa Ana.
